SIEGE OF MONTEVIDEO

f. The Oriental capital is actually besieged by Flores and his 1000 filibusters, patriots, liberators, or whatever else they may be styled. It is useless for President Berro to conceal the fact, that all communication with the exterior would, by land, is cut off, and his effort to close river transit only made the inconvenience greater, without either improving his situation or concealing the bad state of things. There are yet 10,000 men bearing arms for Government, but in spite of Medina's magniloquent despatches, Flores has completely fooled him, and his army is killing fat cattle on the banks of Rio Negro; a fetedly unofficial that the enemy has writt n "Mene Thekel Flares," on the walls of the Government-house in Montevideo. How long this force of 3,500 troops is to remain, waiting the return of Flores or the news that he has taken the capital, is more than we can guess. It is said two war steamers have been despatched to Fray Bentos or Paysandu, to convey them to Montevideo; but as we had learned that several thousand horses were transported from Entre Rios, we could not suppose Medina found himself short in means of conveyance. Nor do we entertain great hopes that the timely arrival of this contingent will save Montevideo from the state of siege now begun.

Last week the Government made a clean sweep of all the horses in the city, leaving the livery-stables empty. The barricades are not very strong, but sufficient to keep out a troop of cavalry. The theatres are closed, and a general panic prevails. Meantime there is talk of an arrangement. Some days ago Flores sent a proposal of terms was returned unopened, and we hear, later, that President Berro intimated a desire to treat, which Flores at once agreed to. Colonel Mundell is in Montevideo, but will not be suffered to go out, lest he should lend his valuable aid to the besiegers.

A correspondent from Payssandu writes that Goyo Suares remained at his estancia two days, being severely wounded that they could not at once convey him across the Brazilian frontier. He has since escaped.

The Brazilian admiral complained to Government, respecting the detention of the Marquez de Olinda steamer, and declared his intention of sending a war-vessel to take her out of port. The English merchants lauded the Minister to despatch the Doterell gun-boat to B. Ayres, seeing which the Orinoco Government found it useful to do all the steam-packets, and the port was, therefore, re-opened. The agents of the Marquez of Olinda have sent a claim for compensation.

It is rumored that strict martial law is in force, there every one not being allowed to assemble in the streets, this requires confirmation. The Vicar and clergy made, last Thursday, a visit to Mercedes array; this is puradoxical as the communication is impeded and we doubt whether the Crucod-Flores has such respect for religious ministers as to give them a Lictor's yaare.

THE DEATH OF SANDES.

The Tres Pavon, which arrived on Saturday, brought the news of the death of Sandes, who with all his faults, we believe, was a brave officer, a courageous soldier. The particulars respecting his death we extract from one of the Spanish papers printed in this city The deceased officer had been written to some time ago by one of the Flores revolutionary committee of Buenos Ayres, we suspect, requesting his assistance to the revolution, and in answer stated that he had been 20 days ill. first attacked with pleurisy, which was succeeded by fever, after the latter he came under the care and advice of Walowski he recovered. Twelve days after writing this letter he expired. On the 5th instant he died in Mendoza of an attack of pneumonia. It appears that after the battle of Las Playas, he marched to Mendoza, he felt one of his wounds opening from over exertion: this wound he tried to get bound himself around round, and got up, but felt very weak. While conversing with some friends, a fit of coughing came on, which brought on a fit, and he expired almost instantaneously.

An eye-witness, at the battle of Las Playas, assures us that were it not for the strenuous efforts of General Basnuevo, who was in the Colorado infantry regiment would have been butchered by this deceased officer and his men, and the most distinguishing circumstance we have is his bloody sword and grounded their arms and surrendered.

Sandes has gone before and met a higher tribunal than that of public opinion he knew it not. We hope that it trust that he will meet with more mercy on high than some of his unfortunate prisoners experienced here on earth. We have his biography, but others none acquainted with his antecedents and the laws and usages of Argentine warfare. Such men as Commander Sandes are not to be called a Sepoy rebellion or a Sikh warfare, but in a country like this, where three-fourths of the inspires combatants are the outskirts of the city, and by least account, a lost thing was buried, on Sunday morning.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

The 'Scout' has at last arrived, with the machinery for the San Juan Mines. Owing to the re-appearance of the Chechu in that province, it is to be supposed that it will not be used for the present.

The residence of Mr. Smith has been at last caught. He was recognized by Mr. Smith's brother whilst walking in the streets of Concordia, Entre Rios. An English gunboat, called the Spider, has gone up to bring the murderer down to Montevideo.

On Sunday morning four steamers arrived from Montevideo, each of which brought different versions of the Flores' affair. The real state of the case seems to be, that Flores has taken Canelones, and thereby cut Montevideo off from the city. Meanwhile Flores can neither fight Mitre, nor get into Montevideo Paul Moreno is expecting reinforcements daily at Colonia.

One of the most important discoveries of the day, is that of a new road to Chile. We read in the Peru-Cardil' of the 16th, that a road has been found the capital of Chili, and near the city of San Fernando, there has just been discovered a road through the Andes, and which by exercising a little care round, and short-cuts the journey considerably. This new pass will be of the greatest utility, particularly for those who pass which carry on trade with Chile, such as Cuyo, Rioja, Catamarca, San, and Tucuman. The Chilian Government are handling the discovery as a matter of the greatest importance, has sent engineers to inspect the pass.

The news which we have from the camp is of a very favorable nature to the north, particularly, the grass is high, the sheep fat, and lambs in plenty, and the shearing will be general, we noticed such a number of persons, as at present, who are willing until after the shearing to buy sheep. The Foreign Minister has sent us a remark to the effect all our fellow-countrymen prefer the rain to either the south or west. Land to buy is very plenty, but to no purpose, except in earnest, as it is to advise all our friends, who are to keep far and, to go up to Rojas, where the best and cheapest lands are to be had.

That hat which the porter at the Bolsa has the courage to wear is the theme of universal admiration. On Saturday last, it was the cynosure of people who, with the apparent curiosity of inspecting the Bolsa clock be-

Bullock Las Piedras.

We have at length received a trustworthy account of the great battle, exaggerated by Oriental journals, in print stated by the Colorados of Buenos Ayres.

On Monday 14th inst. there was great excitement in Montevideo. At three-quarters of 2 o'clock we heard from the fort, and people hurrying hither and thither in terrible confusion, as the rumor spread that Flores was approaching the city. Cuirdes, Nat. Guards, Ministers &c. had a busy time of it, and every one thought the critical moment had arrived. Nevertheless the city passed over without other novelty than a conflicting reports of imaginary skirmishes &c. &c. Next morning however all business was suspended; the Custom house closed, and the barricades were erected. Moreno was supposed to be at Canelones and Flores at las Piedras, but nothing positive was known even in official quarters.

On the 16th inst. the opposing armies met near las Piedras and at once prepared for battle. Lucas Moreno's army was composed of 1400 cavalry and two battalions (about 1,200) of infantry. Flores troops were less than half that number, being estimated at 800 to 1000, nearly all cavalry. Flores' orders were to attack the heavy, but the rebels had the advantages, that their subversions were little by little, and Artagalaga at the very first touch the Government cavalry without firing a shot repeating the game of Cepeda and Pavon; Flores in right the day, and pursued down the whole weight of his cavalry on the infantry battalions. The latter however stood firm and discharged their volleys with terrible effect. The rebel cavalry in its rout and efforts to out-flank and break Moreno's line, which held together. Gen. Flores, seeing his infantry engaged, ordered a charge of cavalry to support the infantry, which decided the fate of the day. The rebels were completely routed, and fled in disorder, leaving the field covered with their dead and wounded, their arms and ammunition, and all their artillery, consisting of 4 guns. Their loss is estimated at 600 killed and wounded. Flores' loss is not known where Moreno is, nothing but the fact that he is with the outskirts of the city, and by least account, a lot thing was buried, on Sunday morning.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

The 'Scout' has at last arrived, with the machinery for the San Juan Mines. Owing to the re-appearance of the Chechu in that province, it is to be supposed that it will not be used for the present.

The residence of Mr. Smith has been at last caught. He was recognized by Mr. Smith's brother whilst walking in the streets of Concordia, Entre Rios. An English gunboat, called the Spider, has gone up to bring the murderer down to Montevideo.

On Sunday morning four steamers arrived from Montevideo, each of which brought different versions of the Flores' affair. The real state of the case seems to be, that Flores has taken Canelones, and thereby cut Moreno off from the city. Meanwhile Flores can neither fight Mitre, nor get into Montevideo Paul Moreno is expecting reinforcements daily at Colonia.

One of the most important discoveries of the day, is that of a new road to Chile. We read in the Peru-Cardil' of the 16th, that a road has been found the capital of Chili, and near the city of San Fernando, there has just been discovered a road through the Andes, and which by exercising a little care round, and short-cuts the journey considerably. This new pass will be of the greatest utility, particularly for those who pass which carry on trade with Chile, such as Cuyo, Rioja, Catamarca, San, and Tucuman. The Chilian Government are handling the discovery as a matter of the greatest importance, has sent engineers to inspect the pass.

The news which we have from the camp is of a very favorable nature to the north, particularly, the grass is high, the sheep fat, and lambs in plenty, and the shearing will be general, we noticed such a number of persons, as at present, who are willing until after the shearing to buy sheep. The Foreign Minister has sent us a remark to the effect all our fellow-countrymen prefer the rain to either the south or west. Land to buy is very plenty, but to no purpose, except in earnest, as it is to advise all our friends, who are to keep far and, to go up to Rojas, where the best and cheapest lands are to be had.

That hat which the porter at the Bolsa has the courage to wear is the theme of universal admiration. On Saturday last, it was the cynosure of people who, with the apparent curiosity of inspecting the Bolsa block be-fished in the Spanish papers in circulity. Flores is afraid to attack Moreno of Moreno evinces no anxiety to assure swords with Flores. Meanwhile if Moreno receives the reinforcements which he is expecting will Urquiza jun., Lopez, Nadal, and Lenelo, the odds are against Flores.

In Montevideo people actually know less of what is going on than in Buenos Ayres. Would to Heaven the matter were one way or the other en lod, as the present state of things is ruining business and the whole country at large.

The Sheldrake left Buenos Ayres for Montevideo yesterday evening; taking down 250 marines to protect the custom house.

THE MERCEDES MURDER.

Villa de Mercedes, Sept. 19, 1863.

Gentlemen—I feel called on again to correct the mis-statements made from time to time in your columns relating to this case (Kirby's murder) and consider them injurious rather than favourable thereto. That you are illinformed I know before, from your issue of the 16th instant your information is in direct opposition to that furnished you by me long before, viz: that Kirby confessed his crime, you are informed, on being recognized. Such was not the case; quite the contrary—while pleo is "not guilty," Manuel him say so; hence the necessity of proving that he is, and the cause of delay. Then you say the feeling here is that he will not be punished, that may be so with some who speak that reports, and do nothing better for the case. At all events he goes to Buenos Ayres one of these days pandemonium to condign punishment; and the assassin of course to be approved by the high courts. It may not be necessary now to mention the other false reports you publish this entire—and not supported outside as you did with my last, for want of space I suppose. Apropos allow me to put the wild oats on record here.

In talking of the reward for the murderer, I am led to say that your agent have took the list of subscribers with him (I am sorry he did so) to Mercedes, and raised it. Another copy will be sent soon, he tell me. Mean time any name for this object will be received gratefully by him or myself, I suppose the list closes here. I request you send me a post to your notice.

The country is fast coming to former great colour: in three days a beautiful vegetation is upon; whilst I write it is raining; the peach orchards look delightful, and promise a good fruit season. The pic nics, as you know, is our staple fruit. I have seen some fried from Mercedes sold here at $35 per annum, and some are super-excellent, why not? Mendoza is a favourite with us, but Mercedes is my theme. Here we are favoured too, or rather we are to be, with a railroad in a month's time, by which I had a lease of my land until then; no matter my youngest may live to see it, and in truth a generation more or less before action is taken, reforms take place, it appears. Take an instance. The other day a native was in charge of a flock of sheep here, when an order came to him to go at once and serve as a soldier. Off he went of course; but by the plough in hands it would be the same. Under the present system require alteration. If you have up the poor Gaucho's case (he is a brother and a native property) bundle it off to the front, and never think of improve his present condition, you will confer a benefit on the present, not to say future, generation. Imagination would not be so much wanted with present population were turned to good account. I have a good deal to say in favour of the poor native Gaucho, or son of the soil—they are treated indiscriminately.

So no people have talk of shearing already, but I think the rain will change their courage. In other years sheep were common in this and next month at three dollars each; cheap for you here sold at $35 each! I guarantee this to be true.

ESTANCIERO.

THE GERMAN CONCERT

Gentlemen,

An article in your paper stated a few days ago, only Bonelos' would be announced to the Concert of the German Club "Germania."

I beg to say, this is a mistake, and we hope to see many of our married friends with their ladies amongst us and hop ours to have a pleasant entertance of two fair sex. Many members at our Club will consider it his duty to circumvate his circle in such a manner, that the no tickets will be in select one.

yours, &c.,
A Member of the Turtonic.

The Very Latest

It is currently rumoured, that on Sunday night some 180 Orientals left this city to join Flores. They put off, it is said, in five small boats, and took with them three pieces of cannon. In Montevideo it was current that the slaves of Medina would land in a few days, in the hope of several hundred more.

Over 400 filibusters, it is said, are now at the Tuyu, waiting for a chance to run across.

The price of beef has risen so much in Montevideo, that the cattle trade seems coming up to Buenos Ayres.

No news whatever about the Sicilia or La Pista.

THE BOLSA PORTER'S HAT

This famous "hat," which is daily carefully met your eye, in your ingoing and outgoing from the Bolsa, allow me to inform you, is without its equal, and the consequent city, shall a new fashion just introduced to this metropolis, by the far-famed Major Wright. A hoax it was purchased by the porter for the extreme and unequalled price of eight pesos. As some of your subscribers merely wish to be conversant of the nature of "that rare hat," it would be well for such an one to make application to the Major, upon the hat as not him only "29 realgo calore in remate," and he would do such a business as to allow him very soon to put on a hat more—Sooloos.

Tobacco Growing.

There is probably not a country in the world better adapted for the cultivation of tobacco than Buenos Ayres, and yet we don't produce enough for the consumption of the smallest village in the country. Every sheep farmer in the country could, by half an hour's labour each day in his quinta, grow enough of tobacco, not only for himself, but for half a dozen of his native neighbours.

We extract the following instructions from an American paper, which will be interesting to all those who feel disposed to make a tobacco experiment:—

THE SEED BED.

The plants, our readers will hardly need be told, are to be grown on separate ground. This should be attended to in the autumn, and the manure dug in in the spring—as soon as the frost is out and the ground can be worked. It should be ploughed to a good depth, and made mellow either by burning a large amount of brushwood upon it, the ashes of which will have the desired effect, or by the addition of such kinds of manure as will ferment quickly, and thus keep up an artificial heat in the soil. Southern planters insist upon the necessity of northern more extensively practise the latter. Make the bed very rich, cover with glass at night till all danger from frost is past, and you will find little difficulty in having plants well grown, 2½ to 3 inches long, by the time the field is ready to receive them. An experienced eye can tell when the bed should be mixed with two or three times its bulk of sand, and sowed as evenly as possible—not covered, but pressed down with the under side of the feet. It is hardly necessary to say that the ground should be first brought to a very fine tilth, everything but the soil must be carefully raked off, and that there should be no grass or other seeds in the soil or manure.

CHOICE AND PREPARATION OF THE SEED.

A deep sandy loam is best. Plants have twenty-five to thirty leaves of good size upon the stem. The manure is composted with as much swamp muck, hog the previous autumn and weather-ed through which the seeds are mixed and sowing well fomented, the value of the manure will be doubled, both for the tobacco and for any crop to follow. It will be the same in addition to the foregoing, to add a little guano and a good heavy dressing of superphosphate of lime. Guano is good for tobacco, and superphosphate is still better. A dressing of the latter for the seed-bed is excellent—probably produces stronger plants than any other rooted Indian soluble. If guano is used it should be ploughed in. Superphosphate may better be left on the surface, or but slightly covered.

TRANSPLANTING.

When the field has been several times deeply ploughed, and as often raked and harrowed, and it is thoroughly mellowed and the manure fairly incorporated with it, and when the plants are grown to two or three inches in height, they are to be taken from the seed-beds, three and a half one way and about two and a half the other, and set the plants in the same manner as you now plant corn, three and a half feet apart by a shallow furrow, and then another back furrowed toward and partly upon it, and then the plant dropped into it at a half feet apart along this ridge; but he do not make the ridges of much height, especially if the soil be light and—manure early that clayed. It would be hard to find a reason for planting much above the general level, except in soils, which are wet and stiff. If it is to be so used, will not be much longer planted at all till dried and warmed by the fair drainage. The seed bed is supposed to have been kept moist previously to drawing the plants, by cause shade rains or by watering if necessary. This is important to all sorts of plants setting. The tobacco plant, like any other, loves the operation better if the ground it leaves and that in good dry order. Consequently a moderate rain at the time is desirable. Well moistened, but not drenched and flooded, is the best condition for the soil. A shade hunts will fail, under the last treat non; you field should be closely watched, and vacant places filled as soon after the general planting as may be, that the crop may mature uniformly.

On the Prospects of Cotton Cultivation in the Argentine Republic.

By Thomas J. Hutchinson, F.R.G.S &c., H. B. M's Consul at Rosario.

2. These islands possess the advantage of being entirely removed from the war in any future disturbance here, and moreover, cannot be trespassed on by the herds of sheep and cattle that roam over the Pampas.

3. Ships can be loaded from them and land any expense of interior inland transport, so as to be able at once to proceed to sea.

4. As the water of the River Plate is fresh to its embouchure, below Monte Video, no harm can ever result from seas, or molluscs by watering the plants from the river can be easily erected.

5. The same style of labour which tends and shears sheep in the provinces of Buenos Ayres, cultivates corn in Cordoba, sugar-cane and tobacco in Tucuman, and vineries of agriculture at the colony of Esperanza, namely, that of Europeans, can be used all through the Argentine Provinces, for cotton cultivation. Exclusive of Patagonia, the territory extents from the twenty-third to the thirty-sixth degree of southern latitude, being exclusive the torrid climates of Pernambuco, Bahia, Rio Janeiro, and Brazil generally. Beginning the work then at the islands, or near shore parts of the province, and then alongside the river, with the opening of the Salado and Bermejo, and the progress of the Central Argentine Railway from Rosario to Cordoba, a traverse of peace, prosperity, and happiness may be augured for the Argentine Republic.

6. If the governors, estancieros, and landholders be helped by British capital and immigration, which latter, as General Don Antonio forcibly expresses to me, "blends its interests to ours by the medium of commerce," there appears to me a strong hope that this part of the world could supply much of the possible "exhaustion" alluded to in the first part of the paper. We have to some extent of land, the great part of it, virgin soil, more than eight times as large as the cotton States of the North; so have a river not inferior to the Mississippi in its navigability and length of course, and far superior in its healthiness; we have cheap labour to commence with; the Government and people offering the hand of welcome; and finally, we have all those advantages, within many weeks' nearer call of England than either India, Queensland, or Australia.

But although submitting these notes for the consideration of the Manchester Cotton Supply Association, all that I advocate in the first instance is that a party of cotton seed be sent out, to use in order, to afford the colonists and people the opportunity to prove what they can do for the double object of benefiting themselves and aiding the manufacturing interests of England. I shall charge myself to scatter the seed far and wide, and thus give the Argentine people the means of getting into friendly emulation with their neighbours of Brazil for an important position in the English cotton market.

MISCELLANY.

RETALIATION IN THE SOUTH.—The "Richmond Despatch" of the 7th inst. says:—"In the Libby Prison yesterday, by order of General Winder, the captains among the Yankee prisoners drew lots for two of their number to be shot, in retaliation for the shooting of Captains Corbin and M'Cleary by General Burnside, at Sandusky, Ohio, on 15th of May last. The prisoners were assembled in a room, at 11 o'clock, by Captain Turner, the commandant of the prison, and after being formed in a hollow square around a table were informed of the order issued by General Winder. Slips of paper, each containing the name of one of the officers present, were carefully folded up and deposited on the table. Captain Turner then informed the men that they might select whom they pleased to name the names, and the first two names drawn would, under the order, be shot. The lots were drawn by the Rev. Mr. Brown, amid a silence almost deathlike. The first ballot drawn contained the name of Captain Sharpe, of the 1st. New Jersey Cavalry; the second that of Captain Flinn, of the 15th Indiana Volunteers. The day of their execution has not yet been fixed."

LITTLE CROW.—Large preparations are being made by the United States' Government for a crush down 1000 hundred following Little Crow. Abercpedit is started some time ago under General Sibley, which it is confidently expected will achieve the object desired. Meanwhile, the chief has been endeavouring to get the authorities in Red River to aid him. He has visited Fort Garry, and remained several days with 60 of his friends and squaws. He begged for a little ammunition "to kill Americans" with. Governor Dallas has refused it. Little Crow then said "it made no difference; he had plenty." He behaved in an innocent, reckless and bold manner. His party had with provisions of the settlers, but, by the advice of Governor Dallas, little was given them. Governor Dallas finally told him that he had neither leave, which Little Crow did. Most of the Indians were dressed in white men's costume many of them in fine broadcloth coats and pants. The squaws wore ladies' silk dresses and gaiters, and had parasols and umbrellas. All these things have, of course, been looted from the houses they have plundered during the war. Little Crow was dressed in a black coat and vest, and the ladies' dress had in the mass of broadcloth, and dressed in leggings; he had a lady's fine shawl wrapped around his head, and one around his waist as a sash; he wore no armor, but carries a seven shooter in his hand. It is a fact not generally known that the principle of the signal service in use in both the Federal and Confederate armies was borrowed from the Western Indians, in watching an enemy they get their scouts, on high elevations and ridges on the prairie, and communicate information by signals made with their blankets, or by moving their body informed, or as often necessary, of every movement of the white.—St. Paul Press.

ON CHANGE.

Monday is generally a dull day; people don't feel in the proper humour to speculate, and limit themselves to talking politics, to the great annoyance of the brokers, who are on the qui vive for common cry. Omnes vere fiunt, but without meaning. In the morning they had an unusual tendency, but as the news from the interior had been sad, and from Montevideo still worse, nuances as usual went down. An experienced cunning broker of high standing assures us that he has remarked in an invariable rule with the news of a favourable nature, the nuance always rise, and when we hear of unfavourable revolutions, &c., they go down like news at Sunday's death and the Chacho's late unreaction has cut out cats to fall a dollar and a half.

The news from Montevideo is regarded as most unsatisfactory. People are getting tired of these eternal revolutions, defeats, &c., and it is to some solution of this Oriental question.

The Government of Corrientes has taken all the remaining cotton seed offered, which will probably amount about half a ton. We understand that his Excellency distributes the seeds to all who wish to sow it in their cottages.

Exchange on England is at 99a. 6. We understand that takers are not wanting from the market at 99, Ongay quoted at 4.36, went up to 4.38, an closed at 4.34. Cash sales, 2594.

SAVING BANK

OF

BANK MAUA & Co.

—N. 103 calle Cangallo.—

The immense advantages of Account Current are now so generally felt, and appear stated in the two great newspapers of the River Plate—Montevideo & Buenos Ayres—that there are very few Merchants who fail to keep one at the Bank in which they do the most of their business.

The Bank of Maua & Co. in Montevideo has already provided for the working class in that city, a safe & profitable depository for their savings.

The sums deposited in that most important institution are daily increasing and already reach a very large amount.

Those advantages have not hitherto been enjoyed in this city by an immense number of Clerks, artisans, workingmen & servants [of all classes Adventitious] who are equally interested in putting their savings out at interest thus providing themselves with a reserve fund in case of sick, sickness or old age, instead of spending them in the immoral gambling, in lotteries and other frivolities.

The Bank of Maua and Co. of this city following the example of their firm in Montevideo now offer this same facilities in this city and will open on the 1st October a "Savings Bank" at No. 103 calle Cangallo from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m. on weekdays; and on Sundays and holidays from 10 a.m. to 12 m for the reception of the savings of the classes already mentioned.

The Bank will deliver to each depositor a Pass Book in which will be entered the sum int deposited and withdrawn.

The depositor is permitted at any time to withdraw the whole or part of the sum deposited, in the former case the interest will be calculated up to date.

The Bank of Maua and Co is sufficiently known to the public by the benefits derived from the success of its operations, which are regulat d on the strictest and soundest principles and always directed to promote the general welfare.

The Bank of Maua and Co. are also persuaded that this new branch of their business will receive the encouragement of the working classes of Buenos Ayres and its neighbourhood.
